Philosophy of Lister

Over 100 years of experience in high quality woodcraft is built into each individual piece of Lister Teak Leisure Furniture.

The brochure explains why the extensive Lister Collection is recognized as the leader in quality and design today.

Study each page, we feel confident that you too will appreciate the heritage, craftsmanship and quality that epitomizes the very finest in Leisure Furniture.

The Lister Collection crafted exclusively in teak.

HERITAGE

When considering the acquisition of a piece of Lister Teak Leisure Furniture, consider too the heritage of this most coveted of English quality furniture.

Robert Ashton Lister began his lifelong interest in wood, particularly Teak, over 100 years ago, producing superb quality garden furniture products bearing his name.

Alongside garden furniture production, he also produced high quality accessories such as flower tubs particularly favoured by fashionable Victorians.

Much of the original wood for these items was sourced from old 'Men of War' ships that were being salvaged – which indeed says much for the durability of Teak which covered much of decks and superstructures of these historic vessels.

It is recorded in the Lister journals that 'Many a Lister wooden tub is made from Timber of British Warships. To mention a single instance as example : That of "H.M.S. Collingwood" one of the battleships engaged in the Jutland Battle and one of the 4th Battle Squadron warships from July 1916 – Feb 1919". Our journal continue...

"It is pleasing to know that these stately ships, after they have seen years of service in securing the peace of our coasts are not merely broken up, but are transformed to go out once more to beautify the homes they have so well guarded".

From these small and indeed remarkable, beginnings, supplying local gardens and municipal parks with benches and homes with flower tubs, the quality of Lister's wooden products soon became recognised, and demand began to grow.

Ashton Lister's interest not only encompassed wooden furniture, however.

As one of the great Edwardian innovators, by the late 1920's, the Lister name was now also to be found on superb range of diesel and petrol engines, and dairy equipment too.

With a range of such diversity, together with Lister's fine reputation as rope manufacturer – where Lister originally came to the world's notice. Ashton's next step was to investigate export markets for all these very different products.

Soon, Lister Garden Furniture was being exported all over the world, its reputation of being the finest quality is underlined by the fact that many pieces of original furniture are still found in beautiful condition after sixty and seventy years.

Lister continues to enjoy the premier position in traditional hand crafted teak leisure furniture.

When you choose from the Lister range, you are investing in a great English tradition that continues – today.

CRAFTSMANSHIP

Over 100 years of English Craftsmanship is built into every piece of Lister Furniture.

Every joint – using traditional tenon and mortice joints – secured with teak dowels, is just an indication of the care and attention to detail that distinguishes a Lister piece.

Take a long look at Lister – you'll find more and more features that guarantee you are purchasing the very best.

Features such as the subtly contoured seats that ensure comfort, elegantly sculptured front rails that guarantee clothing is not snagged, tapered Teak plugs covering the screws and slatted table tops that make sure water does not collect on the surface.

Only the thoughtful experience of Lister craftsman can combine the knowledge and skill that is needed to produce the very best. Each piece is then endorsed with the Lister nameplate.

Part of our craftsman's skill is an intimate appreciation of the wood with which they work. Lister craftsmen know that solid Teak (Tectona grandis) weathers into a beautiful silvery grey as shown here.

With every piece of Lister Furniture, you will receive comprehensive instructions on how to achieve this wonderful patina – or if you prefer, how to retain the original 'new' look without time-consuming maintenance procedures necessary for all other wood species.

When you choose from the Lister Teak Leisure Furniture range – you know you are buying traditional craftsmanship – at its very best.

Teak

About all other hardwoods, Teak is recognized as THE hardwood of garden furniture.

Teak's immense strength allied to its naturally higher oil content prevents warping and rot ensuring that Lister Furniture will last for generations, without the tedious maintenance processes required by other woods.

The natural beauty of Teak also ensures that it will complement and enhance any setting.

Teak – The sustainable resource

Teak (Tectona grandis) is not, as many people believe, a true rainforest hardwood. Its natural habitat belongs to the drier areas of the Far East.

However, some countries have benefited from the early introduction of Teak seedlings and now have considerable plantations that are managed on a strict, sustainable basis under government control.

Further, the state controlled industry deliberately pursues a labour intensive policy in the plantations, ensuring maximum employment. State policy also demands that the very minimum of mechanical equipment is used in the forests – indeed oxen are often used to transport logs across the plantations.

It is our company policy to ensure that all Teak used in the production of Lister Furniture is acquired from responsible sources.

Lister believes that it is only by supporting a commercially responsible timber trade that the world's forests will be protected. Placing an economic value on our forests ensures that continuous replanting will take place and that governments will not clear away forests or plantations for agricultural or industrial purposes.

Commercial forests, like natural forests, are vital to the economies of many countries.

We subscribe to the aims of the United Nations International Tropical Timber Organization and its program for sustainable forestry, 'Target 2000'

In these ways, Lister is helping to safeguard a great future for the King of Wood – Teak, Tectona grandis – and the unique association it enjoys with quality English garden and leisure furniture.

Wooden Heart Collection

“Wooden Heart” outdoor chair collection based its design concept on the forms of nature. Sea corals, tangerine fruit section and sea urchin are what inspire the design concept development.

By cutting the mentioned nature forms into sections and leave a certain space in between, the organic sections will interact with the space gap and create dynamic movement when going around the sectioned form.

Thanks to the carpentry craftsmanship of Sun Wood, the ergonomic functions was adjusted and developed through the prototyping procedures. “Wooden Heart” can be used in both indoor and outdoor space due to its call of nature that no human denies.

Director's Lounge

My plan for "Director's Lounge" was an extraordinary appearance at first glance. But to discover all of its qualities, you have to look twice or just sit down.

This innovative model is actually the first and only director's chair with a strong stance. Due to its unique inclination it offers a dynamic attitude and exceptional comfort.

The lightweight telescopic folding mechanism is realised with "Sun-Hybrid"*.

Eccentre

"Eccentre" was developed around its most surprising detail, the eccentric hinge, which allows extremely flat folding of the chair.

The subtle lines of the seat and backrest contours are shaped ergonomically and provide for convincing seating comfort. With its straightforward design language, the chair appears airy, almost transparent.

Extremely reduced material sections could be realised through deployment of "Sun-Hybrid"*.

"Sun-Hybrid" is an innovative composite material developed and patented by SunWood.

KAAT Collection

Garden designer and landscape architect Wilfried Hendriks and Belgium-based interior architect Steven Stals have together helped to change the direction of Lister.

Through their partnership the KAAT range was borne-delivering an exciting blend of cutting-edge architecture for the garden. By combining their talents, our furniture has further evolved to produce simple strength and power that simultaneously offers comfort with style.

Wilfried studied at the Horticultural Insititue in Vilvoorde, Belgium and participated in workshop at Ecole desBeaux Arts, Fontainebleau in France by Rene. Steven studied at the Royal Academy of Fine Arts, and the National Institute For Architecture and Town Planning, in Antwerp and UiaH, University for Industrial arts Helsinki, Finland.

Edwin Lutyens

Eminent English architect Edwin Lutyens (1868-1944) began his career studying at South Kensington School of Art (later to become the Royal College of Art.) After receiving modest commissions, he set up his own practice in 1889 designing small houses in Surrey. Later completing a series of large country establishments, including furniture and gardens, Edwin developed a highly individual style based on traditional English design and craftsmanship.

Planning of the city of New Delhi, India, including the Viceroy's Palace was his most noteworthy public achievement – as well as The Cenotaph in London, Hampton Court Bridge and the British Embassy in Washington DC. Hew was knighted in 1918.

Arne Jacobsen

Danish born Arne Jacobsen is one of the world's most famous furniture designers, renowned for 'The Ant' and 'The Number Seven' chairs. Today his designs are highly influential in shaping modern furniture, and continue to be faithfully replicated by Lister.

Initially training as a mason, Arne studied architecture at the Royal Danish Academy of Arts, Copenhagen. His design The 'Ant' 1952 propelled Arne into world fame, as the first of number of lightweight chairs comprising seat and back in one piece of moulded wood. Model '3107' was launched in variety of colors, and marks an important success in Danish furniture history with more than five million copies manufactured to date.

Sundries & Accessories

Teak care

Simply the best

By selecting a piece of Lister teak furniture you are selecting quite simply the best wood in the world. Teak is a deciduous hardwood tree and contrary to popular belief, comes from the highlands and not from tropical rainforests.

No other wood shares teak's exceptional strength and durability. Its unique texture and leathery smell are due to its high oil content. These and rot, allowing Lister's furniture to stay outdoors in all conditions, without maintenance or preservatives.

Naturally...

Teak is a natural product and , because of this, fluctuations of temperature and humidity may cause surface cracking and in particular the end grains. This is normal and will not affect the durability or strength of the wood.

Left outdoors, untreated teak will adjust to the elements over the years and the colour of the wood will change to an attractive silver gray, aided only by an occasional washing with warm soapy water in order to discourage moss.

To keep the original colour of your Lister furniture you can use Lister Teak Dressing although, since teak wood does not require preserving or treating , this is for cosmetic purposes only.

The naturally high oil content of teak means that it does not require treating with teak oil or other preservatives. We recommend using Lister Teak Dressing because:

- It retains the original colour of teak
- It is fast and easy to apply
- It has a quick drying time

IMPORTANT NOTE – please use the Lister Teak Dressing with care:

- Ensure the furniture is dry
- Use rubber gloves
- Protect your face and eyes
- Wear protective clothing
- Use only in well ventilated areas
- Apply the product sparingly – 2 or 3 light coats, twice yearly, are recommended.
- Lister brand Dressing/Protector can be purchased from our approved stockists.

The furniture has turned a silver colour and you want to restore it to its original colour.

Firstly, wash the furniture with warm soapy water and a household scrubbing brush to remove all dirt, moss, bird dropping etc. This makes the next stage easier.

Now apply Lister Teak Cleaner. Working on a small area at a time apply sufficient cleaner to cover the surface.

Using a good firm scrubbing brush, work the Lister Teak Cleaner into the furniture's surface and leave for approximately 5 minutes.

Using clean, warm water wash the surface using the scrubbing brush, Rinse again and the furniture will be returned to its original colour.

When the furniture is dry, apply Lister Teak Dressing/ Protector following the instructions given in 'Maintaining The Original Colour' section.

Grease spots have appeared on the furniture.

This is a natural feature of the wood and grease spots should gradually disappear after being exposed to sunlight. However, should you wish to remove these blemishes, we recommend using a degreasing agent and gentle scrubbing brush. Rinse off with clean water. Persistent grease spots can be removed by using white spirit.

Lister brand Cleaner can be purchased from our approved stockists.

Please treat this products with care, reading the manufacturer's instructions prior to application.

The furniture(which is placed underneath trees) has developed mildew spots or black blemishes.

This is usually the result of rainwater or sometimes sap dripping from the leaves of trees onto the wood leaving dark marks or spots. Ideally, we recommend that Lister furniture is not placed under trees if at all possible. However, these marks can be removed by lightly sanding with fine sandpaper.

How should candle wax or wine stains be removed from a Lister table?

Candle wax can be removed by placing brown paper over the wax mark and pressing with a warm iron. This will melt the wax, drawing it out of the wood and onto the paper. For wine stains, we recommend using methylated spirits to wipe the area clean.

The furniture seems to have a colour fluctuation compared to the same items seen in a shop/at a show.

This is due to the finished item being packaged and stored until delivery to the customer. Once the item is placed outside in daylight, the wood will return to its natural colour.

How do I know my furniture purchase will last?

Over 100 years of craftsmanship is built into every piece of Lister furniture. Every joint – using traditional tenon and mortice joints – secured with teak dowels, is just an indication of the care and attention to detail that distinguished our furniture from that of our competitors. All assembly components are made of brass and stainless steel to ensure against rust or deterioration.

All these features, endorsed by the Lister insignia, guarantee you are purchasing the very best in outdoor, leisure furniture – classic designs, with heirloom quality, impervious to the elements from generation to generation.

Our Heritage

Our Heritage

Robert Ashton Lister began his lifelong interest in wood, particularly teak, over 100 years ago, with the production of superb quality garden furniture products bearing his name. To complement these, he also manufactured accessories for gardens and municipal parks such as flower tubs favoured by the fashionable Victorians of the day.

A large proportion of the original wood for these items was salvaged from the decks and superstructures of old 'Man O'War' ships – an indication, even then, of the durability of teak.

From these small beginnings, supplying local gardens and municipal parks, the quality of Lister's wooden products soon gained recognition and demand for them began to grow.

Much of the company's early design, the foundation for its traditional range, is based on the early collections between eminent British architect Sir Edward Landseer Lutyens and renowned garden designer Gertrude Jekyll.

Before long, Lister garden furniture was being exported all around the world, its reputation of fine quality being underlined by the facts that many pieces of original furniture can still be found today in beautiful condition, bearing the test of time.

Our Designs

Lister offers both classic and contemporary designs, with something for all environments, whether country cottage or modern town apartment, rural hotel or inner city bar, classic restaurant or stylish café.

The company's traditional range maintains its heritage of classic, timeless designs whilst the modern ranges combine teak with fabrics and stainless steel. The company continues to push forward the boundaries of modern leisure furniture design, investing in research and development to enhance and extend the Lister range.

Our Materials

Lister uses the finest grade A teak. With its exceptional qualities of warmth, durability and stability, teak has long been chosen as the natural material for leisure furniture.

The teak comes from renewable and sustainable, natural grown and strictly managed resources and which has full accountable documentation.

Modern textiles and stainless steel have now been incorporated into many of Lister's modern designs, carefully chosen to ensure to ensure they offer the highest possible standard.

Our Manufacturing Skills

Lister is committed to producing modern and classic designs, whilst maintaining its traditional craftsmanship roots. Features such as subtly contoured seats that ensure comfort and smooth furniture surfaces that guarantee clothing is not snagged are an indication of the care and attention to detail that distinguishes Lister from our competitors.

Our Customers

Lister's products can be found all over the world, in some of the most prestigious and famous locations.

Customers include many of the Royal Gardens, the award winning Eden Projects, hotels including Truste House Forte, Rocco Forte, Heritage Hotels and Hilton Group, Bass/Six Continent Retail, P&O, Hebridean Cruises and Persimmon Homes as well as local authorities, nursing homes, parks and gardens nationwide.

Whatever the location, whatever the use, Lister furniture offers the perfect combination of contemporary style combined with classic craftsmanship.

Our Guarantee

Each item endorsed by the Lister insignia guarantees you are purchasing the very best in outdoor leisure furniture.

However, should you Lister purchase become defective due to faulty materials and/or workmanship, the products are guaranteed for a period of 5 years from the date of purchase. Special conditions or exceptions for this warranty many apply when items are intended for commercial use. Please contact the Lister Sales Office for details of the Terms and Conditions observed by the guarantees.

Parasols and cushions are guaranteed for 1 year and designs incorporating textiles or polycore fabrics, which are colourfast and UV resistant, are guaranteed for 3 years.

Whatever Lister products you choose, you're safe in the knowledge that you are buying a product of the highest quality, that will last for generations.

In accordance with our policy of continuous development, specifications, design and price are subject to alteration at any time without prior notice.

All dimensions and weights are approximate.
